

The speaker will describe a distance learning experience in the field of lyric music on a terrestrial QoS-guaranteed IP-based telecommunication network. Remote classes for orchestra and chorus both at the individual and group level have been given. The technical and artistic issues of this critical tele-teaching area have been identified and the relevant problems solved.