

The Centre for Information Security (SIS) was commissioned on April 1st, 2002 and is a national initiative for the coordination of activities related to ICT security in Norway. The main activities of the centre are to obtain an overall impression of threats towards Norwegian ICT systems and spread information, expertise, and knowledge about possible threats and relevant countermeasures.