

Knowledge management is a professional way of organising and structuring the transfer of knowledge in an organisation. TERENA's conference is the annual forum for knowledge exchange between its members. Many successful companies have improved their performance by introducing knowledge management in their organisation. TERENA could learn from their experience.