

An overview will be given of the IST FP5 projects in the area of Advanced Photonic Networking. The sum of these projects spans a large range of diverse aspects valuable within the realisation of future optical communication networks. Focus will be given to the results obtained and demonstrations realised by these projects.