

The subject of this presentation is the Wireless Campus project and WLAN technology related issues. The following points will be discussed: a general view of project environment and the main objectives and how the WLAN is being deployed inside the campus, with an inside view of security issues. Finally, research themes on location-based services and open source solutions will be presented.