

Peter Egger has a masters degree in Economics, Education and Social Studies. Since 1993, he has been a project manager, working for the HR-Research and Benchmarking Division of the Volkswagen Coaching GmbH. In this capacity, he has helped develop a benchmarking methodology that has been applied very successfully within and without the Volkswagen Group. He is currently in charge of projects and developing guidelines for teamwork at work and he also trains benchmarking teams. <P.Egger@t-online.de>