

Vladimir Smotlacha received his M.Sc. degrees in Computer Science from the Czech Technical University and in Theoretical Cybernetics from Charles University, Prague. He worked several years as a Unix system programmer and as an administrator. Since 1996, he has been with CESNET as the operator of Czech NREN. His research interests include NTP, QoS, high-speed networks and communications protocols. <vs@cesnet.cz