

BIOGRAPHY

Sunčana Kukolja Taradi is an Associate Professor of Physiology and Immunology at the University of Zagreb Medical Faculty (UZMF) and has a certificate in E-learning Management from CARNet's E-learning Academy.

In 1996 she developed the web-site "Interactive Physiology" which was awarded with the second price by the jury of the CARNet Users Conference CUC1999. The site was also included into 100 best Croatian web sites in the year 1999 by the PCchip magazine. At CUC2004 her paper A Paradigmatic Shift from "Assessment of Learning" to "Assessment for Learning" was awarded in the category "The Best Paper (quality of work)".

She developed and teaches a mixed mode course "Interactive educational module of acid-base balance in humans" that was awarded by a "Special mention of the Jury" at CUC2004.

She is the chef-editor of several web-sites including the official UZMF web-site (www.mef.hr) and CARNet's Reference Centers web.

Prof. Kukolja Taradi is the chairman of the UZMF e-learning Committee. She has published several articles on topics of e-learning in professional journals and teaches graduate and postgraduate students about online education and telemedicine.